

SHIELDING GARMENTS

UPPER BODY SHIELD

Magnetic Shielding You Can Wear!

Attention pacemaker wearers, welders and anyone wanting to shield their upper body from magnetic fields! The Upper Body Shield does exactly that. Composed of individual metal links which give good flexibility and plenty of air circulation. Provides about a measurable ~50% reduction of AC and DC magnetic field!

Made with 10mm diameter, shiny galvanized, 16g round mild steel rings which are butted closed. You can easily move/remove links. For example, if you don't need the head covering, you could move those links to achieve more shoulder or heart coverage. Or you could use removed material to double up the shielding in desired places. Keep it dry as it will rust! You should probably wear a fabric liner under the shield, to minimize direct skin contact. It has some weight to it, just over 6 pounds. One size fits all. Don't be fooled by the medieval look. This is a thoroughly modern solution to a thoroughly modern problem!
